MESSAGE FROM THE CHIEF OF POLICE

I am most pleased to present you with the Miami Police Department's (MPD) 2010 Annual Report. While this publication provides but a mere glimpse of the outstanding work performed by our dedicated employees, the MPD enjoyed some remarkable accomplishments throughout the year, making significant strides in the areas of police-community relations, investigative services and operations.

Upon my appointment during the latter part of 2009, I set a goal with my management team to address violent crime, especially in neighborhoods where concerned residents pleaded for our help. In response to this outcry and in keeping with our mission to create an environment where people of all walks of life, ethnic backgrounds or races feel safe, we created the Tactical Operations Section (TOS). Consolidating all tactical units under one command allowed the MPD to more effectively tackle crimes that were being perpetrated by rival gangs and other suspects who have no respect for human life. While we saw a slight increase in some Part I crimes, an analysis dating back to 1972 revealed the 2010 crime figures to be the third lowest in almost four decades. Year-end totals for Forcible Sex Offenses and Robberies marked an impressive 40 plus-year low in our department's history and similarly, Burglary and Auto Theft figures dropped in notable proportions. Furthermore, over 1,000 firearms were seized from dangerous felons, 400 more than the previous year. This is a testament to the hard work and commitment exhibited by MPD's finest, the brave men and women who proudly wear their badge of honor to protect life and property every day.

The year 2010 took a financial toll on the sworn and civilian members of the MPD. Our ailing economy coupled with the City's fiscal challenges, subjected these civil servants to substantial pay cuts. Also, in an effort to achieve cost savings, our department streamlined functions and operated with a frugal mindset throughout the year, in addition to reducing expenditures by $4 million. In spite of the losses, MPD personnel remained focused on their public safety mission and our delivery of service was never compromised.

Miami is a diverse, vibrant and multifaceted city with a distinct international flair. Our thriving metropolis boasts residential, business, cultural and entertainment sectors which stand among the most coveted in the world. On a given week, our warm South Floridian haven is flocked with a service population of close to one million who select our city as their preferred destination to live, work or enjoy. Whether patrolling their beats, directing traffic, engaging in special operations, or protecting tourists and event patrons, our officers remain firm and proud in their resolve to represent the Miami Police Department with utmost professionalism. The same holds true for those who work behind the scenes such as our undercover officers, detectives, communications operators, crime scene technicians, and administrative staff who are deserving of accolades as well.

On behalf of the entire MPD family, I'd like to extend my most sincere gratitude to this community for its support of our efforts during 2010. I feel blessed and privileged to lead this acclaimed organization after 37 years of service to the Miami Police Department.

Sincerely,

Miguel A. Exposito
Chief of Police

MUJER VANIDADES
Kenia Reyes
VOCERA DE LA POLICIA

Kenia ha logrado unir sus conocimientos de comunicación con su vocación de servicio, pues "uno de los objetivos de la policía es proteger a la gente y buscar solución a los problemas que tengan".

Nació en New Jersey, de padres cubanos, Kenia Reyes llegó a Miami a los 11 años y allí estudió arte y comunicación social en la Florida International University. Se especializó en periodismo, pero sus planes dieron un giro inesperado: "Después que mi novatado intenté más ayudar a las personas". Y durante 10 años trabajó como trabajadora social ayudando a los refugiados y a los desempleados a encontrar un futuro mejor.

Eso es, Kenia siempre quiso ayudar a la comunidad de una manera y se convirtió en policía. Comenzó como guardiana en La Pradera Hialeah y dos años después comenzó su ascenso por la escala de nivel para trabajar en los escuadrones, principalmente en la lucha contra la prostitución. Más tarde, se convirtió en Oficial de Recurso y fue el vínculo entre la policía y los habitantes en una importante zona de Miami. Sin embargo, ella tenía una meta: convertirse en vocera de la policía. Y lo logró. "Generalmente los voceros son escuadrones entre personas que llevan muchos años en la policía y la conocen por dentro. En mi caso, llevé solo cuatro años, pero lo que fue un gran honor que me dieran esa oportunidad. En los últimos días dos años anteriores trabajé muchos días con la comunidad a través de los periódicos, la televisión y los radio".

Cuando Kenia informa a los medios sobre algún caso serio, siempre incluye recomendaciones preventivas para evitar que otros casos de ese tipo se repitan. "Como vocera me está divigiendo los medios, pero creo que más de intentar y buscar para prevenir los delitos".

Para ella, ser parte de la policía "tiene que ser una persona sencilla y con el don de poder comunicarse bien, tanto con los periodistas como con las personas de la comunidad de diferentes nacionalidades, culturas, costumbres y maneras de vivir".

Además de ser policía y estudiar una maestría en Administración Pública, Kenia es esposa y madre. "Mi esposo Miguel Reyes es vocero de la policía y parte del escuadrón de las zonas corporales a vivir otra vez. En el momento mi familia me ayuda, mi compromiso para toda la vida, me comprometo solo con mi esposo". Cuando la consultó, ya ella tenía un hijo. Él, por su parte, ya era padre de cuatro niños. Así que, en un abrir y cerrar de ojos, su familia creció.

"Los hijos de mi esposo me están dando una lección, pero, aunque me van bien, los quiero mucho. Y mi hijo siendo el primero me muestra cómo que había pasado cuatro hermanos", dice Kenia. "En momentos libres, me gusta ir a la playa, visitar los parques, viajar... Los niños crecen muy rápido y hay que disfrutarlos".

OCTOBER Officer Reyes Named "Mujer Vanidades"

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF POLICE

Assigned to the OFFICE OF THE CHIEF are the Public Information Office, the Internal Affairs and Special Investigations Sections and the Legal Advisor. Miami Police Chief Miguel A. Exposito directs and controls all police department operations and has, under his direct supervision, a professional office staff and an executive team which manages the daily operations of the agency in the areas of Field Operations, Criminal Investigations and Administration. Highlighted below are a few noteworthy accomplishments of this office.

Public Information Office (PIO)

- Issued 223 press releases and gave 1,500 interviews in English and Spanish
- Handled over 300 media inquiries per week and processed 367 public records requests
- Public Information officers were called out to close to 190 incidents or crime scenes to serve as spokespersons for the agency, on a seven-day a week, 24-hour basis.

PIO completed a technical enhancement project that rendered the office state-of-the art and enabled its employees to monitor and disseminate news more effectively. Several upgrades included a SnapStream system for the recording and archiving of up to 9,000 hours of programming. In March, substantial media coverage generated as a result of a family plea coordinated by PIO, resulted in the arrest of a homicide offender who had murdered a 50-year-old man.

Do The Right Thing (DTRT) is a not-for-profit program that rewards students, on a monthly basis, for their exemplary behavior, achievements and good deeds.

- Over 200 schools participated and approximately 4,000 youths were rewarded.
- A survey conducted revealed that 98 percent of the students felt more positive about themselves after winning the award.

Among the most successful projects hosted by DTRT was the “Back Without A Bang” Youth Rally Against Violence for 700 students in September.

The Internal Affairs Section (IA) is tasked with the investigation of suspicions or allegations of misconduct by departmental personnel and corruption by city government.

Administrative Unit

- Handled 427 public records requests, 361 citizen complaints, 230 Response to Resistance Reports and 81 Records of Formal Counseling

Anti-Corruption Unit

- During 2010, two MPD officers were arrested as a result of joint investigations between the Anti-Corruption Unit and the FBI Task Force. One was for possession of stolen goods and the other, for the theft of a victim’s ATM card which he used to withdraw money.

Public Corruption Unit

- An investigation by the Public Corruption Unit led to the resignation of a civilian employee in the Records Unit and identified a policy deficiency. Of the 23 cases assigned for investigation to this unit, 15 were completed.

Internal Investigations Unit

- Received, investigated and/or monitored 361 citizen complaints, representing a 22% decrease from the previous year

Staff Inspections Unit

- Inspections of the Homicide, Robbery, Special Events, and Recruitment and Selection Units were conducted and recommendations issued by the Staff Inspections Unit.

The Special Investigations Section (SIS) houses some of MPD’s most highly specialized detectives who are assigned to the Intelligence and Terrorism, Joint Interdiction and Narcotics Units.

The Intelligence and Terrorism Unit is comprised of the Organized Crime and Counterterrorism, Intelligence and Dignitary Protection, Bomb Squad, Technical Assistance, and Intelligence Analyst Details.

Organized Crime and Counterterrorism Detail

- Seized $2,030,923 in currency and 22.5 kilograms of cocaine
- Effected 34 arrests

Members of this detail were assigned to work alongside various agencies to identify, investigate and prosecute individuals and dismantle

“Back Without a Bang” Youth Rally

organizations engaged in activities associated with organized crime and/or terrorism. One of the most significant investigations involved a multi-million dollar Ponzi scheme which resulted in the prosecution of individuals who defrauded over $35 million from investors and pocketed about $7 million in fraudulent business loans.

Intelligence and Dignitary Protection Detail

- Carried out 15 protection/escort details for dignitaries such as President Barack Obama and First Lady Michelle Obama, 18 event/security details, six investigations and attended 53 demonstrations/meetings

Members of this detail were responsible for putting an end to numerous high profile crimes and for monitoring events or incidents with national or international implications. Examples include the arrest of three subjects in conjunction with a credit card skimming scam, the monitoring of a large memorial service in honor of Cuban political prisoner Orlando Zapata (who died during a hunger strike), and an arrest for the advertisement and sale of counterfeit name brand merchandise such as Rolex, Apple and Ed Hardy.

Bomb Squad Detail

- Handled 17 incidents involving suspected hazardous devices
- Conducted 79 bomb sweeps for visiting dignitaries and prior to events

A few hours prior to President Obama's visit to Miami in April, the Bomb Squad Detail responded to a suspicious package left in front of the Department of Public Health. Upon detecting the presence of radioactive material in the package, MPD's expert bomb technicians immediately conducted an assessment which revealed that the package had not been tampered with and rendered it safe. In November, the Bomb Squad investigated a ticking package inside an international airline transport van. After a diligent effort to remotely separate the package from the vehicle, it was determined that the package posed no threat.

Joint Interdiction Unit

- Seized $21,846,462 in currency through the South Florida Money Laundering Strike Force
- Seized 413.5 kilograms of cocaine, 220.5 pounds of marijuana (50 plants), and 6.57 kilograms of heroin

A joint investigation with the DEA in Connecticut resulted in the arrest of a major money laundering operation target and the seizure of $811,160. Additionally, detectives, working jointly with the Los Angeles DEA, infiltrated a Mexican cartel notorious for narcotics/money laundering activity. Five arrests were made, 281 kilograms of cocaine and 20 pounds of methamphetamine were seized.

Narcotics Unit

- Conducted 75 investigations, effected 201 arrests, and seized $6,968,732 in currency, 1,637 kilos of cocaine, 2,825 pounds of marijuana and 2,763 marijuana plants
- Dismantled 48 hydroponics labs in the City of Miami

Among major operations conducted by the elite Narcotics Unit were "Operation Bad Choices" and "Operation Break Point". "Operation Bad Choices" uncovered an elaborate organization which dealt with a supplier in Canada to import drugs into the U.S., with the assistance of airline and cruise ship employees. A multi-agency task force put an end to the intricate scheme that was impacting the Model City neighborhood, by seizing large amounts of drugs and currency and arresting 24 of its members. "Operation Break Point", a joint effort with the DEA, culminated with the federal indictments and arrests of suspects who were linked to the business of heroin in Overtown.

FIELD OPERATIONS DIVISION

Assistant Chief Richard M. Blom leads the FIELD OPERATIONS DIVISION (FOD), consisting of three patrol districts: North, Central and South, delineated into eleven Neighborhood Enhancement Team (NET) service areas. Additionally, the Specialized Operations, Tactical Operations and the Community Relations Sections are housed under FOD. The Staffing and COMPSTAT Details report directly to FOD, as well as the Office of Emergency Management/Homeland Security. Following are some of the outstanding achievements of FOD in 2010:

Field Operations Division Staff Office

The Field Operations Division embarked on a web based project with the Training Unit and Legal Advisor to enhance training for officers on vehicle searches. Another accomplishment involved the reduction of facially defective citations that were dismissed on a monthly basis by the courts, resulting in a loss of revenue to the City. Procedures were put in place to reduce the number of rejected tickets, generating thousands of dollars in revenue.
